Htar-Wa-Ra Edu Goal

Education savings and protection plan for parents aged 18 to 56, with a guaranteed maturity benefit, an education benefit, and waiver of premium so schooling continues.

Htar-Wa-Ra Edu Goal is the education plan of Dai-ichi Life Insurance Myanmar. The parent is the life insured and the child is the reason for the policy. It builds a guaranteed fund for school and university costs, and if the parent dies or becomes totally permanently disabled the plan keeps running without further premiums so that the child's education is not interrupted.

Document status: this is an illustrative sample product document prepared for the InsureAssist demo. Entry age, policy term, sum insured range, and the two benefit options follow the published product highlights of Dai-ichi Life Insurance Myanmar. Payment timing, waiting periods, exclusions, and claim steps are illustrative examples written for the demo and are not official policy wording. This document is not a policy contract, a premium quotation, or an underwriting decision.

Eligibility

Entry age of the parent as life insured is 18 to 56 years old at policy start.

Policy term is 9, 11, or 14 years, chosen so that the plan matures when the child is expected to need the money.

The sum insured ranges from MMK 5,000,000 to MMK 100,000,000, and unlike the other plans in the range this one has a published maximum.

The customer chooses one of two benefit options at application. Option 1 is the Double Benefit Plan and Option 2 is the Basic Benefit Plan. The option cannot be switched later.

Benefits

- Guaranteed maturity benefit paid at the end of the policy term to meet education expenses.
- Education benefit paid to keep the child's schooling funded after the death or total permanent disability of the life insured.
- Waiver of premium benefit, so all remaining premiums are cancelled after the death or total permanent disability of the life insured while the policy stays fully in force.
- Death or total permanent disability benefit under both Option 1 and Option 2.
- Additional 100% death or total permanent disability benefit under Option 1, the Double Benefit Plan, only.
- Premiums paid may be declared as personal income tax relief, subject to Myanmar tax law.

Coverage

Option 1, the Double Benefit Plan, pays the death or total permanent disability benefit plus an additional 100% of the sum insured, and includes the education benefit and the waiver of premium benefit.

Option 2, the Basic Benefit Plan, pays the death or total permanent disability benefit and includes the education benefit and the waiver of premium benefit, without the additional 100%.

The waiver of premium benefit is what makes this plan different from ordinary savings. Illustrative for this demo: if the parent dies in policy year 4 of a 14-year term, the family pays nothing for the remaining 10 years, the education benefit continues to be paid, and the guaranteed maturity benefit is still paid in full at year 14.

Illustrative for this demo: the education benefit is paid in scheduled instalments over the remaining policy term rather than as a single lump sum, and the guaranteed maturity benefit is paid to the policy owner or the named beneficiary at maturity.

Illustrative for this demo: total permanent disability must have continued for at least 6 consecutive months before benefits are assessed, and a claim should be notified within 90 days of the event.

Premium and Payment

Illustrative for this demo: premiums may be paid annually, semi-annually, quarterly, or monthly, with a 30-day grace period after each due date. Premium depends on the sum insured, the policy term, the chosen benefit option, and the age of the life insured.

A lapsed policy may be reinstated within 2 years of the first unpaid premium, subject to payment of arrears and satisfactory evidence of insurability.

Exclusions

Htar-Wa-Ra Edu Goal does not pay:

- Death by suicide within 13 months of the policy start date or of any reinstatement date.
- Total permanent disability resulting from self-inflicted injury or attempted suicide.
- Any claim arising from material misstatement or non-disclosure of health, occupation, or lifestyle facts at application.
- Claims arising from war, invasion, or active participation in armed conflict or civil commotion.
- Claims arising while the life insured is committing or attempting to commit a criminal offence.

The plan does not cover the child as a life insured. Benefits are triggered by the death or total permanent disability of the parent who is the life insured, not by anything happening to the child.

The plan does not pay school fees on presentation of an invoice and does not guarantee admission to any school or university. It pays the benefits set out above in cash.

Agents must not describe the education benefit as an unconditional guarantee of the child's education.

Agent Guidance

A 30-year-old parent is well inside the eligible entry age of 18 to 56, and this plan is the suitable choice when the customer's stated goal is a specific future cost with a known date, such as university entry. Work backwards from the child's age to select the 9, 11, or 14-year term.

Lead with the waiver of premium benefit rather than the returns. The point an ordinary savings account cannot match is that the plan finishes paying for itself if the parent is no longer there.

Choose the option by budget and by dependence. Option 1, the Double Benefit Plan, suits a sole earner where the family would need cash immediately as well as the education fund. Option 2, the Basic Benefit Plan, suits a two-earner household protecting the education goal alone.

Note the maximum sum insured of MMK 100,000,000 before discussing large cases, and remember the parent is the life insured for all underwriting purposes.
